[COMMUNICATED. The Richmond Disaster. When the starry sky is hid, By clouds of gloom and night. And when the pale and gentle moon Doth fail to shed its light; No music sounds upon the air. All earth looks drear and sad .-E'en so it was, when Richmond fair,

Her great disaster had. With buoyant hearts and peaceful minds, Her sons went in the hall, With no thoughts throbbing in their breasts Of the dread that was to fall! They little thought, on that Spring morn,

As they met their friends with glee; That ere the sun kissed earth good day They'd be in eternity! But ere it was, their hearts are stilled, By "Death's" relentlesshand, The call of man they'll heed no more,

No more they'll give command ! They'll no more greet their friends on earth They have left them all forlorn, And have sped from earthly homes To the eternal bourne. And maid and matron through our land,

Come shed a tear with those, Whose hopes by this quick fatal crush, Have withered like the rose : Let one and all in our domains For a moment cease their strife, And learn from this, that "were in death

Mr. Benjamin Hart, a prosperous merchant of New York city, when first informed of the disaster at Richmond, telegraphed Gov. Walker to draw on him at sight for $1,000 for the relief of the families of the victims of the accident. Mr. Hart, who made this liberal offer, is a Lynchburger by birth, and a son of the late Michael Hart, at one time Mayor of Lynch-
